Idaho State University
Counseling and Testing Service

Learning Outcome Goals – University Counseling and Testing Service

1. Individual personal counseling will contribute to students learning to improve their academic performance.

2. At least 50% of the participants (students, faculty, and staff) in our suicide prevention workshops (QPR) will increase their knowledge in the nine areas reviewed during the workshop.

3. Students receiving counseling will learn six core life skills through the counseling process.

4. Students receiving counseling will learn to reduce the symptoms associated with the concerns for which they sought counseling.