Jeehoon Kim, Ph.D.

Jeehoon teaches gerontology, community organization, and social change. “I like to share my experience and knowledge with students, but I learn a lot of things from them at the same time. Most of all, I enjoy seeing how students change through education.”

Her research interests include gerontology, caregiving and social policy. “I love to work in the interdisciplinary environment of sociology, social work, and criminal justice because my primary area of research is gerontology. Gerontology is a naturally multidisciplinary field.”

You might not guess: I love to read comic books especially Japanese and Korean Manga style.

The event that most changed my career was: the economic crisis in Korea in the late 1990s.

My favorite place on Earth is: South Korea. There are lots of mountains and beautiful autumns.

The bravest thing I ever did was: coming to the United States to study in Albany, NY without knowing anyone. You should ask me about: Mrs. London in Saratoga Springs, NY.

I love to read comic books especially Japanese and Korean Manga style.
